

Philosophical Methodology and Meta-Metaphysics, May 2019

Format: Talk (30-35min ideally, 45 min max), Comments (10min), and then Q+A

Friday May 10, 2019

- 10:00 – 11:45      Karen Bennett (Rutgers University)
                              comments from Vera Flocke (New York University)
                              chair: Jonathan Phillips (Harvard University)
- 1:45-3:30            Gideon Rosen (Princeton University)
                              comments from David Plunkett (Dartmouth College)
                              chair: Nina Emery (Mount Holyoke College)
- 4:00-5:45            Amie Thomasson (Dartmouth College)
                              comments from Lea Schroeder (Yale University)
                              chair: Michaela McSweeney (Boston University)

Saturday May 11, 2019

- 10:00 – 11:45      Theodore Sider (Rutgers University)
                              comments from Eli Hirsch (Brandeis University)
                              chair: Asya Passinsky (Dartmouth College)
- 1:45-3:30            Kyle Mitchell (University of Cambridge)
                              comments from Billy Dunaway (University of Missouri – St Louis)
                              chair: Nadeem Hussain (Stanford University)
- 4:00-5:45            Selim Berker (Harvard University)
                              comments from Jamie Dreier (Brown University)
                              chair: Mark Warren (Daemen College)

Co-organized by David Plunkett and Amie Thomasson

Co-sponsored by the Dartmouth College Philosophy Department, the Leslie Humanities Center, the Ethics Institute, and the Associate Dean of the Arts and Humanities

The workshop is free and open to all, space permitting. But registration is required. Please register here: <https://goo.gl/forms/wOIwo8FnBXiiIhgIz>